

The King's Easter Egg Hunt Returns April 11-15

Pantone Color of the Year - Greenery

This year's color of the year is described as "refreshing and revitalizing". I think we could all use a little bit of that, don't you think? Greenery to us often conjures up visions of grossular garnet. Found primarily in eastern Africa, it's the featured stone of the movie Sharing the Rough.

Known for being bright and lively, it's as avant-garde as this year's color.

Greenery also reminds us of peridot. A fine peridot is rich in color. It has that yellow green hue that reminds us of the first days of spring. Wearing peridot reminds us to welcome the new. Grossular garnets and peridots can be worn with every color of the rainbow just as greenery suits every flower.

Sweet Treats!

"No sooner met but they looked, no sooner looked but they loved."
William Shakespeare
